Here are examples of approved former Innovation Grant projects:

1. The Special Olympics Primary School Inclusion Project was established to promote an atmosphere of friendship and to popularize Special Olympics among young students with and without intellectual disabilities. Throughout the project, the youth leader fostered an inclusive partnership between a special school and a mainstream school. Together, students in 3rd grade from both schools participated in a Unified floor hockey match and a coloring workshop.

2. The Leo-Special Olympics Fun Fair was held to spread awareness of individuals with intellectual disabilities in the community through Unified Sports and recreational fitness activities. Over 300 participants including Leos (members of the youth branch of Lions Club), students from Special Schools, and Special Olympics athletes came together to participate in Unified activities including tug of war, Zumba, 5-a-side soccer, egg races, and painting.
3. Allow the Bond-Play Unified was started to strengthen the national youth leader network and raise awareness of Unified Schools. Over 100 youth with and without intellectual disabilities planned and took part in Unified fun days, Unified Sports events, and school workshops. These Unified activities included a movie outing, drawing session, and tennis lesson.
4. The Inclusive Video Production Team focused on detailing the Player-Development Model of Unified Sports through multimedia to encourage school districts to adopt the program and educate Unified Partners about how to properly defend athletes while playing sports. Looking at the bigger picture, Matt and Jack hope to sustain their project by promoting a workforce model that provides meaningful employment to individuals with intellectual disabilities. Will there be other opportunities to apply? Yes, there will be two opportunities every year for young people to apply for Innovation Grants. The next cycle will be announced in the first half of 2020.

If I want to lead a project that works with a school or university, do I need the school's approval or signature? Yes, it is important to secure the school or universities approval on the project before submitting the application.

If the project is successful, what happens next? The youth leader(s) will be welcomed into the Global Youth Leadership network and have the opportunity to connect and network with youth leaders from around the world. Through the Global Youth Leadership network the youth leaders will be activated for years to come.

If a youth leader/Unified Pair has received a grant for a past project (i.e. from the Summit) are they eligible to apply again? Yes, but the proposed project must be different from the project that received the first grant.
